

Centre for Air Power Studies (CAPS)

Forum for National Security Studies (FNSS)

Dr Shalini Chawla is a Senior Fellow and heads Pakistan and Afghanistan studies at the Centre for Air Power Studies (CAPS), New Delhi. She was a research scholar at the Institute for Defence Studies and Analyses, 1999-2002. She worked as a free-lance defence analyst from 2003-2005 in Colombo, Sri Lanka. She joined CAPS in 2006 and focus of her studies is Pakistan and Afghanistan.

She was the Project Director for an Indian Council of Social Science Research project - Afghanistan: The US Drawdown and Beyond (2013-2015).

She was a member of the Core Group on Pakistan facilitated by Indian Council of World Affairs (2016), New Delhi. She is a member of Policy Group on Afghanistan by Friedrich-Ebert-Stiftung (FES).

She has published widely in national and international journals on a wide range of issues relating to Pakistan and Afghanistan. She lectures regularly at leading establishments of Indian Armed Forces and Universities. She has authored three books titled - Pakistan's Military and Its Strategy (2009), Nuclear Pakistan (2012) and ed. India's Sentinel: Select Writings of Air Commodore Jasjit Singh (2014).